Infosys

Jan 2025 - Present

Senior .NET Developer

Hartford, CT

- Designed senior-level delivery plans for healthcare provider portal enhancements across C# and ASP.NET Core, SQL Server, and object-oriented design practices, improving design traceability before release
- Reviewed API, database, and UI changes with engineering teams to improve code quality, maintainability, and release readiness for enterprise healthcare modules
- Led root-cause discussions for complex application defects by correlating logs, SQL behavior, and service-layer code paths into clear remediation plans
- Authored technical notes, release handoffs, and validation guidance so architects, QA, business users, and stakeholders could track decisions with less ambiguity
- Coordinated Agile/Scrum planning across development, QA, and product partners to balance application design work with production-quality delivery
- Strengthened secure release practices by validating authentication, authorization, and data-access behavior before production deployment
